BAD FIRE SWEEPS OVER SPICELAND

Blaze Early in Morning Causes Heavy Damages in the Town's Business District.

HAD NO FIRE PROTECTION

Flames Fed by Explosion of Gasoline Tank, Spread Despite Efforts of Bucket Brigade.

Fire Sunday morning did damage to the extent of $10,000 at Spiceland, a small town north of here on the Rush-Henry county line. The town has no fire protection outside a bucket brigade and nothing could be done to stay the flames. The fire started at about 5:30 o'clock, and within two hours an entire half block was in ruins. The losses and insurance are as follows:

S. E. Test, cement block building, in which three firms did business; loss, $4000; insurance, $2000. George Evans, general merchant, stock of groceries, notions, queensware, etc.; loss, $4,000; insurance, $1800. David Trabue, meat market, loss $2,000; insurance, $1350. A. J. Spencer, jeweler, loss $300; no insurance. Mr. Spencer rescued most of his stock.

The fire started in Trabue's meat market. In addition to the above losses the home of C. B. Harvey on the west was damaged, and the building of the Spiceland Bank across the street blistered. In the Evans store was a large amount of fruit—canned and all during today these cans continued to explode with loud detonations, conveying the impression that there were explosions several miles distant. In the Trabue meat market was a gasoline tank for the lighting plant and during the fire this blew up with a loud report and threw down the west and south walls of the cement block building.

David Trabue, in whose meat market the fire started, is the son of Samuel Trabue, Sr., of West Third street and is a brother of Sam and Bert Trabue, both of this city. He sent word of his loss to members of the family here yesterday.

UNABLE TO GIVE BOND

Painter, Arrested Here, Sent Back to New Castle Jail.

Judge Jackson Saturday overruled a motion to quash the indictment, charging perjury, against Henry Kiplinger and he is still in jail, says the New Castle Times. Kiplinger did some work in New Castle and made affidavit that all material was paid for, it is charged, but bills came up and he was indicted by the grand jury.

MAKE A RUN LAST NIGHT

Fire Department Was Called to Box Thirty-Six.

The fire department was called to box thirty-six last night about ten-thirty o'clock. It was the same old story, a false alarm. There has been quite a number of calls sent in from this box lately and the police are determined to break up this practice.

A party of six motorcycleists made the circuitous trip to New Castle, Hagerstown, Richmond, Liberty, Brookville and home yesterday.

HAS MOTORCYCLE EFFECT

Local Boys Have Bicycles That Sound Like Go-Devils.

The latest out. The bicycle with the motorcycle effect has come into prominence and several young men in this city, who own wheels have attachments on the same that produce a sound similar in a way to the chug chug of a motorcycle. A stiff piece of paper is fastened onto the rear wheel in a manner so that it will be touched by the spokes and the sound is thus produced. The sound is a peculiar one and one fellow who heard it wanted to know if you could call the bicycle a motorette.

WRITES THEY ARE SAFE FROM STORM

Mrs. Gilbert Meredith Receives Letter From Husband and Son Who Are in Florida.

WAS GREAT LOSS OF PROPERTY

Mrs. Gilbert Meredith of West Ninth street is greatly relieved after a week of anxiety fearing for the safety of her husband and son, Tom, who are employed in the railroad construction work in Florida. It will be remembered that the coast has been swept by a fierce storm in the last week that threatened loss of life and a great loss of property. All telephone and telegraphic communications was stopped and it was even impossible to learn any news of the storm-swept district by wireless. She received a letter from her husband Sunday which stated that he and his son had survived the storm and were uninjured. Mr. Meredith wrote that there had been a great destruction of property in the district, but that the loss of life had been very small. They are located at Marathon now, where there was very little damage. Mr. Meredith and his son were formerly at Pigeon Key, where a great number of buildings were washed away.

OPERATORS ARE BECOMING EXTINCT

The Local Western Union Agent Says That Great Demand by Railroads is the Cause.

WAS A TEREGRAPH OPERATOR

Telegraph operators are gradually becoming extinct, at least that is the belief of C. L. Cristler, local Western Union agent. He says that operators are more in demand now than they have ever been in his remembrance. He attributes the great shortage of the key men to the fact that the State railway laws in various States are being made very rigid. For instance in Indiana, every station, no matter how large or how small, must have three operators, working eight hour shifts, so that a man will be on duty all of the time. Western Union company has opened a free school for telegraphers in Chicago and in that way hope to win new men for the avocation. Mr. Cristler has been endeavoring to find someone to carry messages and learn the business. He asks that boys who care to become operators call and see him.

David Stoops is confined to his home with a slight illness.

SUFFERER DIES OF WHITE PLAGUE

Miss Lucy Zike, 23 Years Old, Succumbs at Her Home in Manilla After Two Years Illness.

WAS TELEPHONE OPERATOR

Had Made Efforts to Recover From Tuberculosis All in Vain—Funeral Tuesday.

Miss Lucy Zike died at the home of her mother in Manilla at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, aged 23 years, 2 months and 6 days, says the Shelbyville News. Her death was caused by tuberculosis with which she was stricken about two years ago. She made a patient and valiant fight against the encroachments of the dread disease and in this was aided by her mother, who spent the winter of 1908-9 with her in Arizona in the hope that she would be benefited by the climate of that State. The hope was vain as she continued to grow worse not only during her stay there but after the return home. The young woman was a favorite among her acquaintances and was one of the most popular of the younger residents of Manilla on account of her jovial disposition and her charming personality and all who knew her will sincerely regret that the call came and had to be answered at a time when the world seemed brightest and best to her sweet and pure young life.

For several years she had charge of the telephone exchange at Manilla and was one of the best operators in this section of the State. She gave up the work only when compelled to do so by the state of her health. As an operator she had many friends, who had never met her and who knew her only by the musical laughter and the silvery tones of her voice as they came over the wires. The sunshine of her nature remained until the end, manifested in the patience and resignation as she waited the final summons. These characteristics were rewarded in the peacefulness of the end, for she parted from home and loved ones like a tired child closing its eyes for sleep.

She is survived by her mother, one brother, Charles of Manilla, and one sister, Mrs. Charles Moberly, east of Shelbyville. Her father and a sister passed away several years ago. The funeral services will be held at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home and the interment will be made in the Manilla cemetery.

MAY LOSE HER EYESIGHT

Irene Pea Hit in Eye by a Rock From Brother's Hand.

While playing with her brother at their residence in Cerro Gordo street late Saturday afternoon, Irene, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Flem Pea, was badly injured and may lose the sight of her right eye as a result. Her brother threw a rock and accidentally hit her in the eye. The eye is badly shattered and it is feared that she may never see out of it again. Drs. R. T. Blount and Vera Logan attended the little girl.

TO HOLD JOINT SESSION.

Greensburg Democrat: William Avery has completed the "county-line" pike, between Clinton township and Rush county, and the boards of Commissioners of Rush and Deatur counties have been called to meet at Williamstown next Thursday for the purpose of viewing and examining it.

PUT BUSINESS INTO POLITICS

Col. Durbin Addresses a Large Audience on the Issues of the Campaign.

FORMER GOVERNOR TALKS

Charges Gov. Marshall With Creating Unnecessary Expense by Employing Legal Advisor.

Ex-Governor Winfield T. Durbin addressed a large crowd in the K. of P. building Saturday evening. Col. Durbin discussed the issues of the campaign in a most convincing manner. The crowd was by far the largest which has attended a Republican speaking thus far in the campaign. The audience filled the K. of P. room and the enthusiasm ran high. Mr. Durbin is not a candidate for office, but has always been interested in politics and the welfare of the Republican party.

Mr. Durbin said that one thing conspicuous about this campaign was that the people are not talking very much, but it must be they are doing a lot of thinking and along the right lines. He asked the audience if the people of Rush county were satisfied. If not, what was the matter? If they are satisfied and it seems they are, then it is not a political issue but a business proposition. "What we want is a party in power capable of running the government on a business basis," said the speaker.

Col. Durbin went on to say that we needed stability in governmental affairs. He would put as much business as possible in politics, but keep all politics out of business. On the unnecessary expenditures of the party in power Mr. Durbin "handed it" to Gov. Marshall for hiring a legal advisor when we have an attorney-general for that purpose. He said, "this is what you call Democratic economy, and economy is the real thing in which the people are interested." The speaker urged the downward revision of government expenditures, not from a political standpoint, but as a simple business proposition.

The speaker told the audience of the family quarrel in the Republican party in his district and urged that nothing like that occur here. He urged the return of Congressman Barnard, since he has satisfied the people and has always been true to the Republican party. He gave his support to Senator Beveridge and asked for his return to the Senate. As he put it, "Democracy never has reformed Republicanism." He gave it as his opinion that Beveridge should have voted for the Payne-Aldridge tariff bill, but that was no reason why he should not be re-elected as he has always stood by the party.

SPECIAL EXPERTS ARE HERE

Rush County Mills Closed For Extensive Repairs.

Butler Bros., of Louisville, Ky., flour mill experts, are here to overhaul the Rush County Mills and to put the mill in first class condition. C. G. Clark & Sons have shut down for two weeks for this occasion and when completed expect to furnish Rushville and Rush county housewives with a flour that can not be excelled. They are spending quite a sum of money in overhauling their new mill in an endeavor to get the bulk of the home patronage which they deserve and which their flour merits.

The local telephone company are busy distributing the new directory.

COLUMBUS COMES BACK

Takes a Rap at Shelbyville, Just to Get Even.

Shelbyville papers have been having fun with Columbus during the past few days because of the small gain in population here during the past ten years, says the Columbus Republican. And now comes the Shelbyville News with a story about the wonderful growth of the Shelbyville high school. Last year the enrollment of the high school was less than 200 and this year it reaches the marvelous total of 217. Columbus high school has an enrollment of nearly 400 and will have 50 more added when the mid-term promotions are made.

WON GAME IN LAST QUARTER OF PLAY

Local High School Football Team Defeats Cambridge City in Fast Contest.

THE FINAL SCORE WAS 11 TO 0

The Rushville high school football team defeated the Cambridge City high school team Saturday afternoon, the final score being eleven to nothing. For the first three quarters neither team was able to score, but in the last period the local team made a desperate rally and scored two touchdowns. The teams were evenly matched and it was not until the last few minutes of the play that the locals were able to score. Rushville has a return game with Cambridge City and will play there next Saturday.

PASSES WORTHLESS ON TWO LOCAL MEN

Denny Ryan and Clyde Biller Suffer at Hands of Stranger, Giving Name as Worthington.

GOT TELEGRAM TO COME HOME

A man who gave his name as Worthington successfully passed two worthless checks last night on Clyde Miller and Denny Ryan at the Grand hotel. One of the checks was for $6.50 and the other was for $7.50. The two worthless pieces of paper were placed in the bank this morning and refused.

Worthington was introduced to Mr. Ryan and Mr. Miller by a young farmer living near here, who believed him to be all right. He said that the stranger was good, saying that he had several relatives here. Not long after he had succeeded in cashing the two checks, Worthington received a telegram that his daughter was at the point of death and that he must come to her bedside at once. The two men who suffered for the forger's work believe the telegram was a fake.

ATTEND BIG SALE.

A large number of people, as well as farmers from this and adjoining counties, attended the Lovejoy and Perry annual hog sale at Falmouth today. A large crowd was in attendance and the swine brought good prices.

TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT.

Miss Mayme Kennedy of Muncie, a reader of note, will give an entertainment in the Manilla Christian church Thursday evening at eight o'clock. She will be assisted by eight young women of Manilla in the monologue "The Bachelor's Dream."

MAY DISMISS JOHNSON CASE

Belief is General That Spiceland Woman, Accused of Murdering Husband, Will go Free.

HOME REUNION A HAPPY ONE

She is Released by Judge on Own Recognizance—Probably File Motion to Dismiss.

Mrs. Etta Johnson, arrested just a week ago Saturday at her home in Spiceland, on the charge of having caused the death of her husband, George E. Johnson, by administering carbolic acid, is at liberty and with her father, mother and children at Spiceland, says the New Castle Times. And it was indeed a happy reunion participated in by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Young, parents of the unfortunate woman, and Floyd, Zola and Pauline Johnson, children of Mrs. Johnson. The latter is only seven years old and probably did not realize the serious charge that was against her mother, but there is no doubt that there was happiness in her little heart too great for words to express, when she saw the familiar form, and was able to throw her little arms about her neck and tearfully call "Mamma." And there are undoubtedly many people in Montgomery county, where the family formerly lived, who rejoice with the family in the liberty of the mother.

Mrs. Johnson was released on her own recognizance and after signing the necessary papers in the court room she quietly left, her demeanor being the same quiet, dignified but saddened demeanor of a woman who has gone through an experience allotted to but few women and come out of it with bravery that only a woman is capable of. She left the court room on the arm of her father and as soon as possible they went to Spiceland and the family circle was reunited. Judge Jackson had intimated Friday evening at the close of the habeas corpus proceedings that the bond would not be more than $5000 and possibly considerably less.

The court spent much time in going over the evidence and when he called the case of "State of Indiana vs. Etta L. Johnson," Prosecuting Attorney Evans arose and made a statement. It was in substance that the evidence heard in the habeas corpus proceedings deviated greatly from that heard before the grand jury and witnesses had failed to stick to their stories when brought down to the point in court; he deemed it, on this account, not proper to keep Mrs. Johnson in jail, but to release her on her own recognizance. He stated that his associate counsel, Senator Johnstone of Crawfordsville, thought he might be able to secure additional evidence but he doubted this and if additional evidence did not develop within a few days he would file a written motion to dismiss the case against Mrs. Johnson.

After the statement of Prosecutor Evans the county clerk prepared the necessary papers and Mrs. Johnson, after being brought up from the jail by Deputy Sheriff Yost, signed it and her freedom was assured. There is no doubt that the case will never come to trial and that a woman, who has seemingly been deeply wronged, will try to live and forget, having only the welfare of her children at heart, if it is possible to forget such a harrowing experience as has been the lot of Mrs. Johnson.

SHOW HOSTILITY TO THE SOLDIER

Indiana Democrats Make Huge Joke of Pension Measure.

SOLID AGAINST JUST BILL

Republicans Sought to Provide State Agent to Assist Indiana Veterans in Obtaining Justice at Pension Department—Democrats Turned Down Proper Appropriation at Governor's Demand.

The Indiana legislature was asked, in 1909, to follow the example of Ohio, Illinois and other states, and create a pension commissioner to aid Indiana veterans in preparing, presenting and proving pension claims at Washington.

The civil war soldier knows what need there is for such a commissioner. The state of Indiana appreciates the services rendered by the soldiers, and in a desire to assist honorably discharged veterans in obtaining justice, it was proposed by a Republican, Representative Miles Furnas, to furnish the aid required, at the state's expense, to the end that no Indiana soldier might be unjustly treated or discriminated against.

Have Lost Their Papers.

Many deserving soldiers have lost their discharge papers, and others have been victims of errors in the records. It is to clear up such records, without exorbitant fees, that the state proposes to create the commissioner mentioned. The just and desirable statute needed will be passed by Republicans at the earliest possible day.

Democrats defeated the purpose of the Furnas bill. Why?

Democrats had a chance to show they were friendly to the soldier. They voted as foes of the soldier.

A solid Democratic committee majority reported the bill for indefinite postponement. The Republican minority in the house urged the bill for passage, and made such a hot fight that the Democrats were forced to put themselves on record for or against the measure. They dodged the consequences of their own act, and when cornered, voted for the soldier bill, which they could not kill in committee.

Insult to Injury.

As if to add insult to injury, the Democrats struck out of the appropriation bill the provision to pay the expense incident to the work of a pension commissioner. This was done by a practically solid Democratic vote in the house, where the Democrats had a good majority. The Republicans backed the appropriation solidly.

Finally, the whole pension commissioner proposition went to death in engrossment. The Democratic governor, seeing the reckless house trend, clamored for economy—too late. The cut came partly on the old soldiers' bill.

Of course the law creating a pension commissioner could not be put in effect without the small appropriation for salary and maintenance. Democrats were not brave enough to vote directly against the bill. They took cowardly and abject refuge behind the appropriation, and stabbed the soldiers from the darkness. It was a craven blow.

Was this soldier appropriation cut in the name of economy? If that is asserted, then it may be said that economy should have begun in the plunder end of the Democratic house, where the Democratic economy shouters spent many thousands more in the session of 1909 than were spent by Republicans in the session of 1907.

Was it plain, old-fashioned hostility against the soldiers that induced the Democrats in the 1909 house to make a joke of the soldier bill? If so, it was a mighty poor and profitless joke and will return to confound the heartless jokers.

FOOLISH STORY REFUTED.

Democrats Predict Increase in Tax Valuations, But Are Exposed in Falsehood.

Another foolish Democratic lie has been nailed by Auditor of State Billheimer. The story had to do with the state board of tax commissioners. The Democrats put forth a yarn to the effect that the state tax board was planning to increase the appraisal on farm lands to $125 an acre all over the state. In other words, the preposterous story had it that all farm lands would be valued for taxation at $125 an acre. The tale was ridiculous on its face. Mr. Billheimer, in response to an inquiry, denounced the campaign fulmination without mincing words. He spoke for all the tax commissioners.

Land Values in Henry.

Henry county land is not behind in values. John Myers recently traded sixty acres for forty acres to F. A. Wisehart, one tract being put in at $125 an acre, and the other at $150 an acre.

Hogs Worth While.

S. H. Trabue, Rushville, is shipping fat hogs in large lots to Cincinnati and selling the porkers at $9 a hundred. He has on hand 185 hogs averaging 290 pounds. At prevailing prices this means $26.10 per hog.

RUINS ITS PATHOS

LITTLE INDIAN BOY PLAYS HAVOC WITH "HIAWATHA."

At Critical Point of Glen Island Play Genesee Breaks in With "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?"

Genesee is a seven-year-old Indian boy who lives in a wigwam on the shore of the sound at Glen island, where a tribe of Ojibway Indians is reproducing "Hiawatha," the Indian love play, for city children, who have been hearing Indian music on the recreation piers this summer. Genesee never heard of Arthur Farwell's rendition of Indian music, though he has learned from his father some of the two and three-tone native songs of the Ojibways, and he knows, of course, the chants of the Indians as they dance and perform Longfellow's great poem.

The other day Genesee, who was born up on the Cattaraugus reservation and is the grandson of the Indian who holds the medal for being the finest physical type of Ironclads left alive after the inroads of civilization, wanted to introduce a flying machine into the most critical part of the performance. He has been looking at the papers and has seen pictures of Curtiss sailing through the air. With a cracker box the boy had made a fair flying machine model and wanted Breaches Hard, his father, to have a big one made so that the soul of Minnehaha, after she had been "buried" in the branches of the trees "in the forest deep and darksome, underneath the moaning hemlocks," could get back to earth.

Old Nokomis, his grandmother, who takes the poem play very seriously, refused to listen and his father cuffed him for the unholy suggestion. This made Genesee feel bad. "It's too old fashioned," he secretly told the ancient arrow maker's daughter while he was dressing for the part of the boyhood of Hiawatha. "But wait!"

The next day he went over to the beach dressed in a little shirt and leggings, to swim with the other bathers, and there he heard a song that had more than three tones. It was full of notes, and they rippled up and down the scale to the ravishment of his little ears. There was one line that pleased him very much. It began, "Has anybody here seen Kelly?" He got away by himself and sang it over and over.

The next morning there was a rehearsal in full dress. The play had reached the point where Hiawatha paddles away across the lake to the tent of the ancient arrow maker and, killing a deer, throws it down at the feet of Minnehaha and her father. Across the lake the voices of the Indians rose and fell in harmony. The voice of the hidden reader came: "At the doorway of his wigwam sat the ancient arrow maker; at his side, all in her beauty, sat the lovely Minnehaha."

Just then in the tense silence out on the float at the lower end of the lake appeared a tiny Indian boy, his feather head dress trembling with excitement at the example of modern progress he intended to give, and, stretching up his arms skyward to the abode of the Great Spirit, he sang in a boyish soprano that could be heard all over the island:

"Has anybody here seen Kelly, Kelly with the green necktie?"

That was as far as he got, for Kwah-sind, the young man, dodged out of the doorway and bore him away.

How He Found Out.

There was silence for a moment. Presently she spoke, and the tone of voice she elected to use was tremulous and pleading.

"Gustavus, dearest, do—do you ever drink?"

Reluctantly he admitted that there were occasions when he glanced carelessly upon the wine when it was ready.

"Ah! dearest," she continued, with anxiety depicted on her lovely features, "what do you suppose papa would say if he should discover that his only daughter's future husband drank?"

"He discovered it yesterday afternoon," responded Gustavus, with some of the same old reluctance.

"Oh; and what did he say?" she inquired, breathlessly.

"He said"—the manly young fellow's voice trembled—"he said, 'Well, Gustavus, my boy, I don't care if I do; mine is the same, with just a dash of bitters.'"

There was silence for a moment—possibly two moments.

The Ideal Mourning.

Appropos of the unexampled extravagance and luxury of New York multimillionaires, Mrs. August Belmont said at a dinner at Tuxedo:

"Then there's young Knickerbocker. Look at young Knickerbocker now. He has 19 regular servants at his town house, and yet since King Edward's death he has hired four extra ones—colored ones, you know—just to bring up black-edged letters and to look after visitors dressed in mourning."—Los Angeles Times.

Relative Risks.

"You know the fate of the pitcher that goes to the well too often." "Going to the well never hurt any pitcher yet. It's going to the corner saloon that send him back to the bush leagues."

TREASURE WELL PROTECTED

How Uncle Sam Carefully Guards the Gold and Silver in His Mints.

The precautions taken at the United States mints against waste of the precious metals are of a most extraordinary character. No miser could guard his treasure with more sedulous care than does your Uncle Samuel.

Every evening the floor of the melting room is swept cleaner than a good housewife's kitchen. The dust is put carefully aside, and about once in three months the soot scraped from every flue is transferred to the same precious dust heap. This is then burned and from its ashes the government derives a handsome income.

The earthenware crucibles used in melting are not employed more than three times. Then they are crushed under heavy rollers and in their porous sides are found fine flakes of fine silver. Like Aladdin with his lamp, Uncle Sam would not exchange old crucibles for new ones.

In the melting room when the casters raise their ladles from the melting pots a shower of sparks flies from the molten surface of the metal. For the most part they are bits of incandescent carbon, but clinging to the carbon is often a minute particle of metal. Least such particles should escape the ashes and clinkers below the furnaces are gathered up at night. The debris is ground into powder by a steam crusher and then is sold to a smelter, like ordinary ore, at a price per ton warranted by the assayer.

The ladles that stir the precious metal, the big iron rods, the strainers and the dippers all are tested in a most curious fashion. After considerable use they become covered with a thin layer of oxidized silver, which looks for all the world like brown rust. The implements are then laid in baths of a solution of sulphuric acid, which eats away the iron and steel and leaves the silver untouched. Gradually the ladle, or whatever the implement is, will disappear, and in its place remains a hollow silver counterpart of the original, delicate as spun glass. These fragile casts reproduce the ladle with perfect accuracy in all its details, although their surfaces are perforated with innumerable little holes. Scarcely have they been molded, however, before they are cast into a crucible, to become in time dollars, quarters and dimes.

There is a large tank in one corner of the melting room and into it newly cast silver bars are dropped and left to cool. Infinitesimal flakes of silver scale off and rise to the surface of the water, which acquires the metallic lustre of a stagnant pool. Here is silver which must not be lost, so beneath the pipe through which the tank is emptied is banked a thick layer of mud. As the water filters through it the mud retains the precious residuum.

Four times a year this mud is removed, and each experiment shows that some $50 has been saved by this device.

Before the Passion Play.

As the time for the first production approaches, the religious spirit of the people deepens. The productions are given several times a week during every tenth summer. They continue from May to September, and are now going on. At seven o'clock the nights preceding the performances, a band of musicians marches from one end of the town to the other announcing the next day's performance, with the intention of warning all those who expect to attend to prepare for it. At five o'clock the next morning the village cannon, placed at the foot of a high peak crowned with a large cross which stands guard over the town nestling at its foot, calls all to early mass, both villagers and visitors, and they are expected to respond.

At seven o'clock the musicians again march through the town to warn those who have no reserved seats that they had better hasten to the theater. At eight o'clock the cannon sounds again, and the play begins. Before the curtain is raised, the 500 who are to take part join the pastor of the church in silent prayer behind it, and with this preparation the drama opens.—Harper's Bazar.

Call for Dr. Blank.

To have themselves publicly called out of a crowded place of entertainment on the pretense that they are urgently wanted by importunate patients is stated to be one of the stock methods of advertising resorted to by young doctors who wish to build up a practise. A budding physician tried this device. He instructed his boy to go to the doorkeeper of the theater and say that a patient of his was in urgent need of attention.

"Right you are, sir!" said the seryant, with a solemn wink. "You leave it to me. I'll manage it all right."

But apparently the honest retainer exceeded instruction in his zeal, for at the end of the second act the manager appeared before the curtain and made this announcement:

"If Dr. Blank is in the audience, I am requested to tell him that he is wanted at once, as the poor fellow ne gave some physic to this afternoon has been having fits ever since!"

A King's Memorial.

It has been suggested that Crystal Palace be bought and turned into a children's palace of education as a memorial to the late King Edward. The king was always interested in any charity that was for the benefit of the children of the world.

APPETITE GONE

Indigestion is the Cause of it—Johnson's Drug Store Has the Cure.

People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years and imagine they have a serious disease.

They over eat or over drink and force on the stomach a lot of extra work.

But they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do extra work.

If these people would take two MI-O-NA stomach tablets with or after meals stomach misery would go in five minutes and they would be a great big help to the stomach in its strain of overwork.

MI-O-NA is guaranteed by Johnson's Drug Store to cure indigestion or any stomach disease or money back.

MI-O-NA for belching of gas.
MI-O-NA for distress after eating.
MI-O-NA for foul breath.
MI-O-NA for biliousness.
MI-O-NA to wake up the liver.
MI-O-NA for heartburn.
MI-O-NA for sick headache.
MI-O-NA for nervous dyspepsia.
MI-O-NA after a banquet.
MI-O-NA for vomiting of pregnancy.

MI-O-NA for sea or car sickness.

Fifty cents a large box at Johnson's Drug Store and druggists everywhere.

Li Hung's Costly Tca.

Li Hung Chang, when entertaining, used tea worth $50 a pound. In comparison, what priceless value has Dr. King's New Health Tea, that cures Constipation, Kidney Trouble, Backache, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and fills you with new health, strength and vigor. But it's only 25c. at F. B. Johnson & Co.

A Generous and Charitable Wish.

"I wish all might know of the benefit I received from your Foley's Kidney Remedy," says I. N. Regan, Farmer, Mo. His kidneys and bladder gave him so much pain, misery and annoyance, he could not work, nor sleep. He says Foley's Kidney Remedy completely cured him. For sale by F. B. Johnson.

AN OLD-TIME PRESCRIPTION

In a modern product. From time immemorial sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost every one knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready to use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. Such a preparation is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, which is sold by all leading druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or which is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

Aley's Child Labor Plans

Robert J. Aley, State superintendent of public instruction, who will leave December 1st to assume the presidency of the University of Maine, is anxious to see the next State legislature enact a child labor law that will meet present conditions in Indiana. Mr. Aley has studied the question chiefly from the standpoint of the school, and will probably recommend in his report to the Governor a law patterned after that enacted in Ohio by the last general assembly of the State.

The Ohio law provides that no child under sixteen years of age shall be regularly employed unless he obtains a certificate showing the completion of the fifth grade in the schools of the State, while any child of fourteen years or over who has completed the eighth grade in the common schools may be employed under proper conditions. Under the Ohio law the school authorities have power to compel any child under sixteen years to return to school, even though he holds a certificate, if in their opinion the child's time is being wasted.

HOME SEEKERS GIVEN A WORD OF WARNING

American Consul at Tampico Issues a Note.

Tampico, Mexico, Oct. 24.—Many American families from middle western states who came to the Tampico section and located on small tracts of land are now in destitute circumstances, according to Clarence A. Miller, United States consul at Tampico. Mr. Miller says that there are many prosperous American colonies in this section and that where suffering exists it is due to unscrupulous transactions of land agents and the lack of proper investigation on the part of investors. Mr. Miller has issued a warning to home-seekers. He says: "Many persons influenced by the glowing descriptions of the real estate companies invested all their savings in a few acres of land they had never seen. Others brought their families with them and had only enough money to make the first payment on a few acres. Numbers of them have become destitute because of being without means to clear land and support themselves until they could produce something. Americans should be cautioned not to invest hastily and not invest at all in lands without making a trip of personal investigation."

Memphis Saloons Alleged to Be Operating in Violation of Constitution.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 24.—For the first time in a generation, the drinking places of Memphis to the number of 700 remained closed all day Sunday in obedience to a temporary federal injunction issued by Judge John E. McCalla at the instigation of the Law and Order League. The league alleged that the drinking places operated in violation of the prohibition law depreciated the value of the adjacent property and thus constituted a violation of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution, which guarantees equal protection to property under the law. The injunction alleges that the city, county and state officers have failed to make an effort to enforce the law.

Alaska Hunter Tells of a Wonderful Herd of Caribou.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 24.—A herd of caribou probably numbering a hundred thousand formed an amazing sight which recently stopped caravans on a lonely trail between Fairbanks and Circle City, Alaska. The scene is described as the most impressive ever witnessed by Captain E. T. Barnett, the Fairbanks banker, who has just arrived. Barnett believes the drove to have been of greater proportions than any other ever before viewed by a white man. His packtrain waited on the hillside four hours while one wing of the herd passed. The herd was nearly a mile wide, stretching out for several miles.

Going After Dope Dealers.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 24.—Investigation of the death of Calvin Bridgeford, who was a victim of the morphine habit, is expected to result in prosecution of a physician for the alleged illegal sale of morphine and a crusade against physicians and druggists who violate the law in this regard. Relatives of Bridgeford threaten action for damages.

Carnegie Not Improved.

New York, Oct. 24.—Andrew Carnegie, who sailed for Skibo castle feeling somewhat worn physically, came back Sunday looking no more energetic than when he departed. He was assisted from the ship to his auto by a friend and an attendant. He seemed feeble than when he went away and was less communicative.

LET THERE BE NO LET UP ON FLIES

Keep Fighting Until the Last Pesky Pest Expires.

HERE IS A WORD IN SEASON

It is folly to take down the screens at the first sign of autumn, as the flies are more annoying now than at any other time of the year—Importance of Keeping Up the Fight.

Indianapolis, Oct. 24.—"Because autumn is here is not sufficient reason for assuming flies are gone," said Dr. J. N. Hurty. "There is just as much folly in taking down the screens at the first sign of autumn as there is in waiting until the beginning of summer to put them up. By all means screens should not be removed until after heavy frosts. The flies are more annoying now than at any time of the year, and it certainly does not pay to anticipate too keenly another season when it comes to storing screen doors before the last fly has disappeared."

"The further extermination of flies can be accomplished by a thorough cleaning of the house after frost. The carpets should be removed and thoroughly shaken and all cracks should be cleaned as far as possible. The flies seek protected places in the house as soon as the first frost comes and thousands of them could be destroyed in this way."

"The fly is one of the worst pests and disseminators of disease with which the health forces of the country have to contend. There is no place so filthy you will not find the fly, especially if the place is not protected. From these places the fly seeks the sick chamber, the table where food is served and leaves its dirty footprints on everything it touches. Beware of the fly if you would avoid disease, and beware of the fly if you value your own life."

FOOTBALL VICTIM

Ralph Wilson of the Wabash Team Killed in Game at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—Ralph Wilson, halfback of the Wabash college football eleven, who was injured here Saturday afternoon in the Wabash-St. Louis university game, died at 6 o'clock Sunday morning. His father, a wealthy farmer of Crawfordsville, Ind., arrived Sunday night to take the body home. Wilson was kicked in the forehead in the third quarter of the game when he attempted to dive through the St. Louis players, and lay on the ground unattended during the remainder of the game. The players and spectators were interested only in the game. When finally taken to the hotel his injuries were found so serious that he went to the hospital, where he died. He was the best player on the Wabash team.

Camden, Ind., Oct. 24.—The question of whether the members of the church of Old Order Brethren should have telephones, which has been discussed at every yearly meeting the Old Order has held, has been settled so far as the church at Deer Creek is concerned. The members met at the church here and decided that they would allow their members to have phones and that they might take an active part in politics. This is a privilege which has always been denied them.

Cracksmen at Work.

Indianapolis, Oct. 24.—Sometime Saturday night cracksmen broke into the safe in the postoffice at Bangersville, seventeen miles south of this city, and secured $300 in stamps and $150 in cash. TO INVESTIGATE THE WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC

Uncle Sam Going to Sift the Thing Thoroughly.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The department of justice will shortly begin a complete investigation of the alleged white slave traffic in this country. For several months Attorney General Wickersham has had several special agents in the field to determine whether or not it would be advisable to increase the force of special agents engaged in this work. The preliminary report indicates that the traffic prevails in some of the large cities of the country and that the federal government should take cognizance of the evil. A large force of special agents will be sent out shortly with instructions to cover every big city in the country for persons who are engaged in the trade in women.

COUNTERFEITERS CAUGHT

Raid at Port Townsend Disclosed a Bunch of "Queer" Nicaraguan Money.

Port Townsend, Wash., Oct. 24.—Three hundred thousand dollars' worth of counterfeit Nicaraguan five-peso notes, freshly printed, were seized, and the printer who made them, the engraver who made the plates and the man charged with securing their manufacture, were arrested here by Captain Porter of the United States secret service and his operatives. George B. Williams, president of the printing company bearing his name, was charged with printing the spurious notes. H. N. Secrist of Tampico, Mexico, was accused of being the promoter, having the notes printed, and Richard J. Trumbull, manager of the Guarantee Engraving company of Chicago, is charged with having made the copper plates from which the paper was printed.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Commander of Cuban Army Will Survive Bullet of Would-Be Assassin.

Havana, Oct. 24.—The condition of General Pino Guerra, commander-in-chief of the Cuban army, who was shot by a national policeman, is satisfactory. The attempt to kill Guerra has created intense excitement, the general belief being that it was the outcome of a political conspiracy to remove him. The man who did the shooting thought that he had killed Guerra. When he was pursued he sought refuge in the residence of General Montegudo, commander of the rural guard, but the sentry would not permit him to pass and the pursuing policeman, who had seen the crime, came up and made the arrest.

CRIPPEN MUST HANG

This Is the Sentence Imposed by Lord Justice Alverstone.

London, Oct. 24.—"Guilty" was the verdict rendered by the jury against Dr. H. H. Crippen, the American, charged with the murder of his actress wife, Belle Elmore Crippen.

Lord Justice Alverstone donned the black cap and sentenced Crippen to death by hanging. This was the only sentence possible under the verdict, but there is a chance that this sentence will be commuted to life imprisonment, owing to the circumstantial nature of the case against the accused.

The jury considered the evidence only twenty-nine minutes. Lord Alverstone fixed the date of hanging of Crippen for either Nov. 14 or 15.

The Imperial Universal Three Flue Base Burner

The Most Economical

The Most Powerful

The Most Durable

The Most Economical because it burns less coal than any other Base Burner on the market.

The Most Powerful because it will heat more space than any other Base Burner of the same size fire bowl with less amount of coal.

The Most Durable because it is made by the best skilled workmen and the very best material that can be obtained.

IMPERIAL UNIVERSAL

Any Base Burner Will Burn Coal

and any Base Burner will heat your ceiling. But what you want is a Base Burner that will heat your floor. We positively guarantee the Imperial Universal to be a perfect floor heater and will heat your floor more uniformly and with less fuel than any other Base Burner made. It costs no more than any other high grade Base Burner and will pay for itself in a few years in economy of fuel.

The Imperial Universal Base Burner has Patent Duplex grates with outside shaking ring which operates on Ball Bearings, working easily with practically no friction and will not bind nor stick when stove is hot.

All Mica Doors, Ash Pit Doors, Swing Top, Main Top and automatic magazine cover, are machine faced so as to prevent any leakage of gas. All nickel parts, Fire Bowl, Duplex Grates, Mica Doors, Magazine and Magazine Covers can be easily removed without taking out a bolt or a screw, thus making it very easy for two men to carry the stove anywhere.

Come in and let us demonstrate this stove to you and you will be convinced as well as we are that it is the Greatest Improved and Best Stove on the market.

The main question in New York is whether Lyman Abbot as T. R.'s equilibrant will serve any better than the one Wellman had on the America.

Owing to the spotty nature of the market for explorers' lectures, Mr. Wellman should have his platform corn before the Indian summer suns turn into the chill winds of November.

President Taft, who is now back in Washington, has rolled up his sleeves to attend to the important duties of his position. There are many things which require his closest attention, keenest investigation and best judgment. Among them are:

Consideration of the establishment of postal savings banks.

Consideration of the policy of the United States in establishing a sound government in Nicaragua.

Conference with the attorney general in reference to suits for the dissolution of various trusts.

Consideration of the new draft of the national incorporation bill prepared by the attorney general.

Determination of various questions in connection with the enforcement of the new railroad rate law.

Discussion with the secretary of State and the tariff experts of the terms of the proposed treaty of reciprocity with Canada and other tariff questions.

The appointment of a chief justice and associate justice of the United States supreme court.

Organization of court of commerce.

Appointment of a solicitor general.

Consideration of the character of governmental reforms to be established in Alaska as a result of the conservation scandal and the report of Atty. Gen. Wickersham and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel, who visited the territory last summer.

Consideration of the report of the board of engineers investigating irrigation projects.

Collector Loeb of New York is reported to have said that Col. Roosevelt is not a candidate for the nomination for the presidency in 1912 and favors a second term for President Taft. This brings out two facts prominently. One is that he and President Taft are shown to understand each other perfectly; rumors of a breach between them have been inspired, but were not credited by their closest friends. The other fact is that in refusing to be a candidate against President Taft, Col. Roosevelt is as mindful of his own popularity as anybody; and when a man like Roosevelt, knowing the power he has with the people, decides at this time not to be a candidate, and to stand squarely for the man he virtually put in the White House, he removes himself absolutely from the very that he is actuated in fighting graft and dishonesty by political ambition, and shows him to be on the square with William Howard Taft.

Judging from reports Uncle Sam will need to put some kind of a bell punch or cash register on his census takers. In view of the passionate desire of most communities to grow in population, it hardly seems likely that this feeling can have always spent itself in newspaper fireworks and the sunset hues of board of trade literature.

Many business interests are vitally affected by the slow or rapid advance in population figures. The corporations have shown such acrobatic mental agility in matters of conscience, that they would perhaps be willing to include census takers among legislators and councilmen as a class that must be dealt with on a money basis.

Nor have we ever learned that the census taker has climbed higher moral levels than the legislator and the councilman. In view of these things and the sharp rivalries between cities some kind of an X-ray and weighing machine to pierce and test the moral sense of the candidate for census taker is imperatively called for.

Notice.

The annual meeting of the Rush County Fair Association will be held in the assembly room of the court house on Saturday, October 29, 1910, at one o'clock p. m. to elect officers for the ensuing year. All stockholders are requested to be present.

AMUSEMENTS

F. Ziegfeld, Jr.'s latest and most pretensions musical revue, "The Follies of 1910," begins a week's engagement at English's in Indianapolis this evening. The new work is in three acts and thirteen scenes. Harry B. Smith supplied the book, while Gus Edwards and others composed the music. The "Follies" was staged by Julian Mitchell. The management promises several surprises, the most important of which is a musical number rendered by Miss Lillian Lorraine and chorus, entitled "Swing me High, Swing me Low," in which Miss Lorraine swings over the heads of the audience while singing the song. Bickel and Watson's Roosevelt band is another feature of the entertainment. Among the numerous stage pictures will be "A View of New York From the Metropolitan Tower," "Office of the Get Poor Quick Syndicate," "A Street in Reno," "Halley's Comet," "An Apple Blossom Grove," "Jardin de Paris Summer and Winter Garden, New York," "A Model Henery," "The Return of Roosevelt," and a "Dress Rehearsal of the Follies of 1910."

The cast includes the names of more than one hundred and fifty musical comedy entertainers. There are Bickel and Watson; Bert Williams, the celebrated colored comedian; Bobby North; Billie Reeves; Wania, imperial Russian dancer; Jacques Kruger; William C. Schrode; Quigg & Nickerson; Peter Swift; Dudley Oatman, Max Scheck, Charles Scribner; Charles Hessong, A. Devlin, Lillian Lorraine, Fanny Brice, Shirley Kellogg, Vera Maxwell, Margaret Morris, Lillian St. Clair, Evelyn Carlton, Florence Gardner, Fawn Conway, Arline Boley, Lottie Vernon, Bessie Fennell, Violet Jewell, Bettie Neill, Trixie Cadiz, May Hopkins, Evelyn Koerner and seventy-five Anna Held girls. The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be held.

The Vaudet will have for tonight a Powers film, "The Crack-Shot." The Powers people have been putting out some good pictures and this one is no exception. A new song will be sung.

The Star Grand offers two comic pictures tonight. The first is entitled "A Close Shave." It is a genuine comedy scream and shows how a malevolent fate providently steers Mr. E. Z. Marc out of an awful bunco scheme. The second picture is entitled "A Flirty Affliction." A young lady afflicted with a peculiar twitching of the muscles of the neck which is most disconcerting and annoying when a number of young beaux and others of the town think she is flirting with them. This comedy is hilariously funny in every scene. Earl Robertson will sing the illustrated song.

The Palace will have for tonight two films. The first is entitled "The Pony Express Rider." The second is another of the "Hank and Lank" series. A new illustrated song will be sung.

Murders are Increasing

"Is it true that murders are increasing?" was asked of Dr. J. H. Kellogg, the superintendent of the sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich.

"It is indeed a fact," was the reply. "There were 10,000 murders last year in the United States—twice as many in proportion to the population as in India. We do not need to send missionaries to India. Senator Hoar once said that the great question before us is not how to civilize the heathen, but how to get the heathen out of our civilization."

"Do you think this increase in murders is due to insanity?" the doctor was asked.

"That is undoubtedly one great cause, for insanity itself is increasing at an alarming rate. You know, don't you," he said, "that we have 150,000 insane in asylums—and a greater number at liberty?"

"Statistics show the increase in insanity for the whole country to be 300 per cent in fifty years," Dr. Kellogg continued. "In some portions of the country the increase has been double this. Fifty years ago the total number of insane was about 600 to the million. At the present time New York State produces 600 lunatics to the million annually. New York has over 30,000 lunatics shut up in institutions, probably twice as many outside. This enormous insane population is being constantly increased by an annual crop of 5,300 lunatics. The proportion of insane in New York at the present time is 3,750 to the million, more than six times the proportion fifty years ago. At the present rate of extension this blot upon the brain will within a few centuries affect the whole population."

"What is the remedy? Aren't the doctors the ones who ought to be able to cure these conditions?"

"They ought to be able to do it, but they are not," Dr. Kellogg replied. "In the first place, they have not sufficient information at their command in regard to the causes of chronic diseases, with which insanity may be classed. We know a good deal about acute diseases and have largely decreased the death rate from them, but the causes of chronic diseases—such as insanity, cancer, Bright's disease, heart disease, arteriosclerosis—are largely shrouded in mystery. We need a national department of health to study these causes and then inform the people."

Disease and Death In Indiana for September

The bulletin of the State Board of Health just published says: Typhoid fever was the most prevalent disease in September. It was also the most prevalent disease in the same month last year. The order of prevalence of certain diseases was as follows: Typhoid fever, rheumatism, tonsillitis, diarrhoea, bronchitis, tuberculosis, cholera morbus, malarial fever, cholera infantum, dysentery, intermittent fever, diphtheria and croup, scarlet fever, influenza, tuberculosis, other forms, whooping cough, inflammation of the bowels, pneumonia, bronchitis, measles, erysipelas, pneumonia lobar, cerebro-spinal meningitis, puerperal fever, chickenpox, small pox.

231 cases of diphtheria were reported from 42 counties with 27 deaths, scarlet fever caused 7 deaths and was reported from 36 counties. Measles caused 3 deaths, whooping cough 26, diarrhoeal disease 361. These children's diseases always increase when the schools are opened.

This slaughter of the innocent is because proper hygienic measures for prevention are not taken when children are assembled in the schools. Every child should be medically inspected because frequently seemingly well children carry infection. Typhoid fever, the disgrace of civilization, caused 158 deaths. It was reported present in all but 13 of the 92 counties in Indiana. Like sin, this disease is a disgrace to any community. Cancer killed 137; 232 were destroyed by violence. The city death rate was 14.7, and the country rate 10.8. Certain cities had death rates as follows: Indianapolis 14.1; Evansville, 14.3; Ft. Wayne, 17.6; Terre Haute, 18.3; South Bend, 17.5.

Of the violence deaths, 28 were suicides and 4 murders. Of the suicides, 13 were women. The methods chosen were gun shots, 4 men, drowning, 1 man, 3 women; hanging, 2 women; jumping in front of trains, 2 men; carbolic acid, 5 men, 2 women. 1 death from hydrophobia in Perry County.

Births for August: Total births, 4,722; white males 2,369; white females 2,157; colored males 46; colored females 49. White stillbirths 118; Colored stillbirths 6.

RETURN FROM HONEYMOON

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Trabue Arrive Here to Live.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Trabue arrived this morning from an extended honeymoon trip through the East. Mr. and Mrs. Trabue were married in Knightstown, Wednesday afternoon, September 23, and left that night for Detroit, Mich. Since that time they have visited all the points of interest in the East and for the past week have been spending their time in the mountains of West Virginia. Mrs. Trabue has gone to Knightstown for a brief visit with her parents. In a few days they will be at home in the Cox property in North Morgan street, formerly occupied by James E. Watson and family.

Deaths on the Increase

The annual increase in deaths among the school children has been reported by the State board of health from figures sent in for September by the county health commissioners. The opening of the schools over the State is followed each year by an increase in deaths of children between the ages of six and eighteen.

Increases have been noted in the following classes of diseases, known to the State board of "school diseases": Diphtheria, which caused twenty-seven deaths; typhoid fever, 158 deaths; scarlet fever, 7 deaths; measles, 3 deaths; whooping cough, 26 deaths, and diarrheal disease, causing 361 deaths. All these deaths, however, were not among school children.

LORD LOVELAND DISCOVERS AMERICA

BY C.N. & A.M. WILLIAMSON

Copyright, 1910, by Doubleday, Page & Company
Copyright, 1908, by the McClure Company

"I couldn't get them to take me, I'm afraid," said Loveland. "I'm not an actor."

"Pooh!" said Bill. "Ain't you ever played as an amateur?"

"Yes, once or twice. They roped me in," said Loveland, recalling a brilliant scene in the country house of a duchess.

"Well, then, there you are with your experience. And as for the wardrobe—my goodness, lad, what do you want more than those swell tweeds of yours and the dress suit you've got? Maybe you'll do better at Alexander's now you're a kind of star yourself!"

"A fallen star," laughed Loveland.

"Look at me and see the marks I got sliding down the sky."

Then for the first time Bill noticed that his friend's hair was singed and his face reddened on one side, his white shirt covered with black spots and his left hand partly in, partly out of, a clumsily made bandage.

"Moses, but you have been through the wars!" exclaimed Bill. And he listened with growing excitement to Loveland's version of the fire.

"He chuckled me," said Loveland.

"Je-rusalem! Why, in the name of all that's decent?"

"It was in the name of everything indecent—villain, cheat, liar, coward—that he did it. According to him, I was all those and ought to be in prison. He thought I'd been making love to his daughter."

"Gee! And had you?"

"No. It was a misunderstanding. But I couldn't explain. And the long and short of it is that I crawled in the dust for a few wretched dollars, which it seems I've got to lose after all. I don't know how I'm to touch any more unless I do as you say and get this place with your friend, 'the human flower.'"

"You'll go?" asked Bill, brightening.

"Rather, if they'll have me. But I haven't even a photograph!"

"Come out with me," said Bill, seizing him by his sound arm. "I know a place where they do you a tintype by flashlight for 10 cents and finish while you wait. I'll stand the racket. You can turn your good side to the machine. By the time the answer comes your hair'll have grown out and you'll be lookin' Al. Hurrah! Three cheers for Lillie de Lisle, 'the little human flower,' and her new juvenile lead!"

CHAPTER XVIII. SHOW FOLKS.

"M-O-DUNK!" shouted a brakeman, slamming the door of the day coach in which Loveland had traveled since some vaguely remembered hour in the night when he had changed trains.

He had dozed, sitting on the hard red seat, his head leaning wearily against the window frame, and he started up at the yell which for an instant seemed part of his dream.

But, then, everything lately had been a dream—his weird experiences

Sold by all dealers.

In New York, the absence of replies from his mother and the London bank in answer to his cabled appeals, the coming of the telegram from Jack Jacobus, accepting the very modest terms named at Bill's suggestion; his start from the magnificent Grand Central station in New York, where the new "juvenile lead" had found his ticket awaiting him. And now, as he bundled half dazed out of the local train he had boarded some hours ago, the dream suddenly grew more bewildering than ever.

What a contrast was this little country "depot" with the splendors of the Grand Central in New York!

Through an open door of the passengers' waiting room Loveland caught a glimpse of a squat stove rising like a fat bodied gray dwarf from a big box of sawdust, and a man who had been warming his hands came out of the room as the train stopped. He was fifty, perhaps, and tall, with a swaggering walk, which caused the shabby fur lined coat he wore to swing like the skirt of a woman's dress as he moved forward. He had on patent leather boots, cracked with old age and caked with new mud.

Every line of the face and figure, every article of clothing, bespoke the fifth rate, seedy actor who has parted in his time with most things except his self conceit.

The idlers on the bench stared at him, then at the newcomer, and regarded with lazy curiosity the meeting between the two, for this gentleman in the tall silk hat and fur overcoat was Mr. Jack Jacobus, come to claim Mr. P. Gordon, the new member of his company.

One quick glance and the glass gray eyes had taken in each detail of Loveland's appearance from the smartly made traveling cap, which still kept its shape, down to the neat brown boots. He approved all, it was evident, except the battered gladstone bag which Bill Willing had bought extraordinarily cheap at a pawnbroker's sale as a gift for his friend Gordon. This Loveland carried in his hand, and he saw the actor-manager's gaze rest sardonically upon it. Mr. Jacobus inquired if he had the pleasure of seeing Mr. Perceval Gordon. Then when answered in the affirmative he delivered himself of a few polite words of greeting.

"Glad you got here all right. Don't know what we should have done if you hadn't turned up. Our juvenile lead came down with typhoid at our last week's stand, and we've been faking our best ever since. Got the checks handy for your big baggage?"

Loveland had to explain that he had no big baggage and under the changing, freezing eyes of Jacobus felt as insignificant as a crushed worm.

"What, no wardrobe?" demanded the manager. His tone of friendly condescension to a new member of his company altered to one of bullying suspicion.

"My wardrobe is here," said Loveland, holding out Bill's present.

"Sorry I forgot to bring a magnifying glass," sneered Jacobus. "But, see here, I call this false pretenses. How are you going to play a new part every night of the week, some of 'em costum' ones, all out of a grip no bigger than your pocket? You ought to have told me what you didn't have—if it wouldn't have taken you too long."

Loveland wished that he had no heavier burden to carry than his bag, but he kept the thought to himself and trudged off with the arbiter of his destiny. The loungers, too far away to overhear the conversation, guessed that it was not altogether of a friendly nature and transferred their quids of tobacco to their cheeks in order to discuss the situation with a new if fleeting animation. As he passed them to descend the platform steps to the muddy country road Loveland caught the words "show folks."

"Show folks!" Yes, he was one of the show folks.

Loveland pricked all over as if with a million stabs of tiny pins, but Jacobus only laughed and said that it was a good advertisement.

He questioned Loveland sharply concerning his theatrical experience, seeming to incline toward distrust since the incident of the traveling bag. Very soon he found out, in all its nakedness, the truth which had been veiled in the letter dictated by Bill—that Mr. Perceval Gordon's experience had all been as an amateur and not very extensive at that. However, as Bill had prophesied, he did not appear to think it mattered much, though he sniffed and "hum'd" a little by way of curbing the new man's self esteem. "You've got a good stage presence and voice," said he, "though I don't know what the folks here will think of that English accent of yours. Pity you can't talk United States."

"You ought to have told me I had to play a new part every night," said Loveland. And the young man and the middle aged one, looking each other straight in the eyes, conceived for one another an intense dislike. "I was given to understand by a person of experience that I should have enough to get on with until I could buy something if necessary."

"Well, that depends on how soon you buy," returned Jacobus less bitterly. "You knew very well that you'd have me on the leg once you got out here at this here little place with your ticket paid. Our show ain't made of money, especially the past two weeks. Heavens! What a frost! We've been living on our gleanings from last month, when we were going like smoke, and counting on the new juvenile lead to help work up better business. That's why I'm so sore at your cheek, Mr. Gordon, shooting yourself out west with what you stand up in. But as you are here we must make the best of a bad business. The girls may like you even with whiskers on your shirt cuffs, and I suppose among us we'll rig you up somehow out of our theater trunks. That's what you were laying for, eh?"

"Look here! If you're going to insult me much more I shall turn round and go back if I have to walk," said Loveland, cold, hungry, tired and miserable, but with just spirit enough left in him to be furious.

Jacobus saw that he had gone too far if the juvenile lead were not to slip through his fingers. He did not want that to happen, though he already had an uneasy jealousy of P. Gordon.

"Pshaw!" he exclaimed, laughing. "Don't you know a joke from an insult in your part of the country? It give me a start to see you land without a wardrobe, and I have a right to be mad. But I've just said we'd make the best of it and help you out all we can. What can we do more?"

The actor-manager watched his new acquisition furtively and at last interrupted himself in describing with some acerbity the absent members of the company to remark suddenly. "You look like a soldier."

"I am a soldier," Loveland replied before he stepped to think.

"Oh!" said Jacobus, regarding him keenly. "English army, of course?"

"Yes," answered Val shortly, regretting his frankness.

"H'm! What were you—sergeant?" Loveland could have broken out into savage laughter. He, a lieutenant in the Grenadier guards, asked by this seedy theatrical man if it were a sergeant!

"No, I wasn't a sergeant," he replied.

"H'm! See here, I hope you didn't leave the army—er—on short notice, eh? You know what I mean."

"Do you mean am I a deserter? Well, set your mind at rest," said Loveland, swallowing his wrath. "I'm not a deserter, and I shan't bring disgrace upon your company."

"All right, all right. I'll take your word for it. But, say, the more I look at you the more I have a kind of sneaking idea I've seen your picture lately. Did you get your photo stuck in any of the theatrical papers since you landed?"

OVERTAXED

Hundreds of Rushville Readers Know What it Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed; Have too much to do. They tell about it in many aches and pains—

Backache, sideache, headache. Early symptoms of kidney ills. Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.

A Rushville citizen tells, here the way to keep the kidneys well.

Mason Maxey, 836 West Third street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy of great merit and I therefore hold them in high esteem. When I procured my first box of Doan's Kidney Pills at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store three years ago, I was badly in need of a remedy that would relieve me of the pain in my back. I found Doan's Kidney Pills to be a reliable preparation for that purpose and by the time I had finished the contents of two boxes, the pain had disappeared. I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills at that time and the elapse of three years has not changed my opinion of them. I willingly confirm all I have said in my original statement."

COLUMBIA CLUB DEEPLY STIRRED

The Roosevelt-Anderson Incident Being Sifted.

JUDGE DEMANDS THE FACTS

Sensational Story Purporting to Relate a Conversational Passage at Columbia Club Between Colonel Roosevelt and Harry New, in Which Judge Anderson Was Discussed, Has Stirred Things Up.

Indianapolis, Oct. 24.—The Columbia club was the busiest place in the city Sunday because of the Roosevelt-Anderson incident. From persons nearby at the time it was learned that when Roosevelt was said to have called Judge Anderson "a crook and a jackass," the judge was some distance away and did not hear the remark.
Those who heard it, including Harry S. New, former national Republican chairman, now a member of the national committee for Indiana, appear to have talked over the incident, and it was determined, so it is said, not to make Judge Anderson acquainted with the affair.

In some way, however, the judge learned of it and himself started an investigation. When his friends tried to smooth over the incident by taking some of the harshness from Roosevelt's purported words, Judge Anderson insisted not only that what was said should be faithfully repeated, but that the manner of the former president should be described. He did not show any feeling as the recital was made. For further confirmation he went to Harry New. What passed between them is unknown, as neither will discuss the affair.

According to some of those who were present, Mr. New was assisting in introducing Roosevelt to the persons in the lobby of the club. Someone introduced Judge Anderson to Roosevelt, but just who made the introduction is not now clear to those who were present. The introduction was cordially acknowledged by Roosevelt and Judge Anderson passed on with the crowd.

It is a matter of history that when Judge Anderson's name was presented to President Roosevelt for appointment as judge of the federal court, Mr.
New opposed the appointment. He was actuated by purely personal reasons. He went to Washington at the request of President Roosevelt and spent a whole day with the president and Attorney General Knox in discussing the matter of the appointment, and Mr. New made clear his opposition to the Anderson appointment. However, the appointment was made, and since then Judge Anderson and Mr. New have become warm friends.

When they were at the Columbia club and when Mr. New saw Judge Anderson presented to Mr. Roosevelt he thought he saw a chance to disabuse Roosevelt's mind of any prejudice that might exist there on account of Mr.
New's opposition to the appointment.
So, according to the Indianapolis News's story of the affair, he approached Roosevelt on the subject.

"Colonel," said Mr. New, "you will remember that I opposed the appointment of Mr. Anderson to the United States bench."

"Yes, yes, I remember," Roosevelt said, hastily.

"Well, I wish to say, colonel," continued Mr. New, "that I was wrong in my opposition to Mr. Anderson and you were right in appointing him. He has proved that I was wrong."

"Is Judge Anderson the man that decided that libel case out here?"
Roosevelt asked, sharply.

"Yes, I believe he did decide a libel case," said Mr. New, who had not up to that time thought of the case.

"That was the decision of a damned jackass and a crook," Roosevelt retorted. "Yes, he is a crook and a jackass, and I don't care if the whole world knows I said it. This is not confidential."

And with that Roosevelt moved along and Mr. New quickly gave over the business of introducing people to someone else.

This story was shown to Harry S.
New at his office and he refused to discuss it in any way.

"I will not talk about what occurred there," said Mr. New.

The libel case referred to by Roosevelt was the one in which the owners of the Indianapolis News were, at the instigation of President Roosevelt, indicted in the District of Columbia for alleged libel in connection with publications regarding the Panama canal scandal. The indictment was returned charging that the alleged libelous articles were circulated in the District of Columbia, although the paper was printed in Indianapolis. The owners of the News refused to go to Washington for trial on this indictment, and the government filed an application in Judge Anderson's court asking that an order be issued for their removal to Washington to answer to the indictment. The matter was presented fully to Judge Anderson, and after a hearing lasting several days, the court refused to grant the order.

There was too much wind in New York Sunday and the aviation meet passed without an exhibition, much to the disappointment of the thousands gathered at Belmont park.

JUDGE A. B. ANDERSON

Who Is Demanding a Sifting of Columbia Club Incident.

AERONAUTS LOST IN WILDS OF CANADA

Apprehension Felt For Safety of Hawley and Post.

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—A message has been received from Ottawa reporting that there are rumors to the effect that the America II. had come down somewhere in the wilds of the St. John lake district.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 24.—A report has been received of the landing of the balloon Dusseldorf II., at Kiskissink, 132 miles north of Quebec and 1,240 miles from the starting point.

Since the Germania and Dusseldorf
II. both descended north of Quebec, and the Helvetia at Lake Temiskaming, it is thought here that the America II. may be down somewhere between Lake Temiskaming and Lake St. John, P. Q. If the America II.
however, crossed Lake Superior well to the west, air currents may have taken it to west Ontario. The Azura came down near Discotasing, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific, west of Sudbury, Ont.

Besides the search being made for the America II. by the Canadian government, the United States and the Aero Club of America, 10,000 officials, engineers, contractors and laborers on the National Transcontinental railway system are on the lookout for the balloon.

It is thought that the America II., with Hawley and Post aboard, has landed somewhere in the desolate fastnesses of northern Quebec or Ontario.
In this case it may take several days for them to communicate with the outside world. Unless some grave accident has occurred to their balloon, the men are in no danger, as the country in which they probably have landed is well stocked with game and they have arms and ammunition with them. The Indians are friendly and intelligent and are moving out to their hunting grounds at this season. It now appears that the Dusseldorf II. has won the coveted prize for Germany, unless Messrs. Post and Hawley have covered even a greater distance.

SHOT THEM DOWN

Trivial Dispute at Dallas Leads to Triple Shooting.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 24.—H. A. White, Otis Clark and J. W. Roberts, three young men from Cooper, were shot by two men whom they met on the street and with whom they had some words over brushing against them. The two men immediately opened fire on their unarmed opponents. White was shot through the body, above the heart.
Surgeons have little hope of his recovery. Clark was shot through the left shoulder and is wounded seriously.
Roberts was shot in the left side but will recover. The two men who did the shooting escaped.

and instantly killed Daniel B. Jenkins,

THE ATHLETICS ARE CHAMPIONS

Cubs Go Down Before Philadelphia Invincibles.

SUNDAY'S WAS DECISIVE GAME

When American League Champions
Had Once More Laid It Over on Hope of National League, Tale Had Been Told—But Five Games Were Required in Series of Seven; Philadelphians Took Four and Pennant.

At Chicago— R.H.E.
Philadelphia 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 5 0—7 11 1
Chicago.... 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—2 9 2
Batteries—Coombs and Lapp; Brown and Archer.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The Philadelphia
Athletics are champions of the world.
They won that title here Sunday afternoon by defeating the Cubs, champions of the National League, by the score of 7 to 2.

The largest crowd that has ever attended a game on the west side witnessed the downfall of their pets. The official figures given out by the national commission were that 27,374 people were present to witness the struggle.
The total gate receipts were $37,116.50.

It was a pitchers' battle between Jack Coombs and Miner Brown, the three-fingered wonder, for seven innings, then the once famous pitcher from Terre Haute blew up, and when the smoke had cleared away after the conclusion of the eighth inning, five runs had been put over the plate by Connie Mack's team.

As in previous games, with the possible exception of that played Saturday, when "King Cole" pitched the only winning game for the Cubs, the Athletics outplayed and outthit the Chicagoans. It put an end to as desperate a battle as was ever fought on the west side, and such rooting as marked the early innings had seldom been heard on any field. The fans rooted as only desperate fans can, who are watching a machine believed to be invincible, being trampled on by younger men.

The fans went wild as the Cubs scored in the second, and when the Athletics took the lead again in the fifth, the fans begged and pleaded for the old guard to come back. But after that fatal eighth they sat back to watch the work of the youthful machine, the one that triumphed over the old, which was looked upon as unbeatable. The hitting of Collins featured the attack of the Mack men. He drove out two doubles and a single, and when the battle was won, stole third that he might display his speed.

AGAIN ON THE WING

The Colonel Enters Upon a Strenuous Week in New York.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 24.—So far as Mr.
Roosevelt is concerned the Republican campaign in this state has opened in real earnest. His arrival here this morning marked the beginning of a week's jaunt through the state with visits to a half-dozen cities where he will hold forth. He was met here by Congressman Dwight and Professor Bailey of Cornell, who conducted him to an automobile, and the party started on a 100-mile ride over the deserted farm regions. The purpose of the day's run is merely sociological, but it will be topped by a political speech at Binghamton this evening. Roosevelt was quizzed about the Indianapolis episode, where he is reported to have said unkind things about Judge Anderson at the recent Columbia club reception there, and about ex-Senator Foraker's attack on the new nationalism.

"I am responsible only for what appears over my own signature, or for what I say in public," the colonel answered. "I cannot discuss stories that come from second- and third-hand sources."

Employees Buried in Debris.
Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24.—Fifteen persons were injured, five seriously, when the front portions of the third, fourth and fifth floors of the storerooms occupied by the Ahrens & Ott Manufacturing company gave way and a dozen or more of the employees were struck or caught under the debris. The damage to the building will reach $100,000.

Needham Plead Guilty.
Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24.—T. T.
O'Leary, who, with P. J. Needham and Dr. C. G. Schott, has been tried in the criminal court, charged with criminal conspiracy to defraud insurance companies of Indianapolis, withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty, and agreed to accept a fine of $800, with the costs attached.

Thrown Under the Wheels.
Pittsburg, Oct. 24.—Patrick J. Dolan, former president of the Pittsburg district, United Mine Workers of America, was killed while trying to board a train for his home at McDoland, Pa.
The train was moving when Dolan tried to board it, and he was thrown under the wheels.

At Montmorency, Ind., Martin Robinson, a young farmer, shot and killed Grace Eller, aged seventeen, in a jealous rage, and then probably fatally wounded himself.

Modern Life Would Be Too Hard on the Nerves If It Were Not For Want Advertising

The pace of life has become tense.

Worries, disappointments, up-sets at home and office, losses, discouragements seem to multiply as daily life becomes more complex.

The property owner, who MUST have a steady income from rents or lose his property, is "racked" by the untimely defection of a tenant. Some classified advertising quickly retrieves his loss—and quiets his nerves!

The salary-earner unexpectedly loses his position—and his peace-of-mind. The strain would shortly "break" something in his nervous system, if, once more, want advertising did not find the better job—and restore him his mental equilibrium.

In every phase of the city's life, every day, the Want Ads play the part of the peace-maker. They SERVE you and me at some crisis in our lives—and keep the modern pace and tension from proving too fast and tight for US.

Truly, the Want Ads ARE FOR SERVICE!

FORCED TO CANCEL SPEAKING DATE

James E. Watson is Painfully Hurt When he Attempts to Get on Train at Dayton.

WAS OFF TO GET FRESH AIR

James E. Watson has been at his home for the past two days with a slight injury which caused him to cancel his speaking dates last week. He was going from Ohio to Pennsylvania and as the train stopped at Dayton, Mr. Watson alighted to get some fresh air. The train started rather suddenly and he ran to catch it, slipping and painfully injuring his leg. He canceled his date for a Pittsburgh address and returned home. Mr. Watson was sufficiently recovered to be able to go to Indianapolis today. He will make several other speeches before the close of the campaign.

SCHOLAR CAN BE A CHRISTIAN, TOO

The Rev. John B. Meacham Pleases Large Audience in Series of Sunday Evening Sermons.

BUSINESS MAN COMES NEXT

Morning Services Was Devoted to Children, When Lecture, Illustrated by Objects, Was Given.

The Rev. John B. Meacham was greeted by a large crowd at the First Presbyterian church last evening, when he gave another of a series of Sunday evening sermons on the topic, "Does it Pay Intellectually to be a Christian." For the next few Sunday nights he will discuss the problems of whether or not it pays to be a Christian from different standpoints.

The example used in showing that it does pay from an intellectual standpoint to be a Christian were taken mostly from Bible characters.

"The Demoniac of Gadara, who was possessed with a legion of devils, till he met Jesus and put himself under his influence, was then restored to his right mind and to his family," said the Rev. Mr. Meacham. "Daniel was made chief of the governors of the wise men of Babylon, because he dared to serve his God in the face of the greatest opposition. Paul was a graduate of the University of Jerusalem, under the greatest teachers of his day, but did nothing but evil with his education till he met Jesus and submitted to his power, after which he wrote fourteen of the books of the New Testament. Solomon was God's wise man, and he said at the conclusion of life to those behind: 'Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth.'

"Gypsy Smith, the evangelist, is an example of what Jesus can do for the intellect. Taken from a gypsy tent an ignorant lad who knew only the language and life of the gypsy and made a world evangelist of him is in favor of Christianity from an intellectual standpoint."

The morning sermon was for the children and illustrated with five or six very small objects that brought their inventors great fortunes. Such as the gimlet screw, the sewing machine needle, rubber tip on lead pencil and the metal tip on the shoe-string. The history of these small objects reveals their importance in the world of business, mechanics and industrial life, small but indispensable.

Some of the lessons drawn from these small objects were that greatness in size does not always count for the most.

"God takes account of the smallest things in life, from the falling of a sparrow to the numbering of the hairs of our heads," said the minister. "Jesus spent much of his time with the children, and the greatest lessons he taught while on earth were illustrated by the little child. Parents brought them to him, he took them up in His arms and blessed them.

"Bring the little ones to church and when they are grown there will be no occasion for asking why men do not go to church. The chief reason for which is because they did not begin while they were infants in their mothers' arms."

The subject for next Sabbath morning will be "A Handful of Service." In the evening the subject will be "Does it Pay to be a Christian. From a Business Standpoint?"

Mr. Boyd has been in the cattle business for several years and he will give his first sale at his farm south of the city this fall. He will hold a big auction Thursday, November 10, when he will sell off under the hammer seventy-five head of his best Jerseys. The cattle in the sale will include both imported and American breeds, so that the buyers may find a varied lot to choose from.

WILL LIVE HERE.

Miss Carrie Shields and Charles Yorkers, both of this city, were secretly married in Connorsville last evening. They will reside in North Main street.

The electric light rate to consumers has been revised by the city council in such a manner that the users of electricity will be greatly benefited. It has always been the plan of the city to reduce the rate according to the amount of electricity burned. Heretofore the rate for any number of Kilowatts from one to one hundred has been ten cents, but now the rate is ten cents for from one to fifty, and nine cents from fifty-one to one hundred. The same reduction is proportionately made in the revised rate, the more Kilowatts that are burned. The new rate is in effect now and this month's bills will be paid in accordance with it. The rate is as follows:

1 to 50 Kilowatts	10c
51 to 100	9c
101 to 150	8c
151 to 200	6c
Power Rate, Day Current—
1 to 100 Kilowatts	8c
100 to 500	6c
500 to 1000	5c
1000 to 1500	4c
Over 1500	3c

Tool and Sickle Grinders

Adopt Up-to-Date Methods of Sharpening Your Tools

In this twentieth century with all the modern conveniences you cannot afford to use an old, slow cutting grindstone that requires unnecessary time and labor when you can have an up-to-date grinder that will give the highest degree of satisfaction, at a very reasonable price. I am in a position to supply you with any of thirty-two different models of CORBUNDUM TOOL AND SICKLE GRINDER that are sold under positive guarantee not to draw temper from tools if properly used. Do not think that CARBON-UNDUM IS THE SAME THING AS EMORY OR CORUNDUM. By actual scientific test carbundum was proved to cut eight times as fast as emory and at the same time not have near the heating qualities as emory. I would like to have every farmer in Rush county use one of these grinders on trial and I am sure he will never do without it after that. If you are at all interested in a labor-saving, time-saving machine of this kind, write or telephone me and I will be pleased to send you a catalogue and to call and demonstrate at your convenience.

Closed Winter Buggies

At J. W. Tompkin's Place

A Car of Sixteen Jobs

These are the greatest finished jobs ever received in the city. They are finished like a Palace Car.

The finish is like that on Col. Roosevelt's Touring Car. It has curtains at the Windows and a rail for your shawls. Nothing like it ever made before in the United States.

I will say this is the best I ever looked at and I have been in the buggy business over 20 years. And this is no lie. If you will come and see this job you will say that I told you the truth for once.

If you are thinking of getting you a winter's buggy, for the Lord's sake don't pass this job if it does cost you a few dollars more.

This job is furnished as nice as any piece of furniture you have in your house. Plenty of room and the best goods that can be bought. Don't buy till you see this one.
